TASK RESOURCES

Here are some resources to help you

Note: The [modelling.ipynb] and [modelling_walkthrough.ipynb] resources below are a specific type of file that must be opened by a Python interpreter. So this task will give you great hands-on experience with Python interpreters! A Python interpreter is a program installed on your computer whose job it is to look at and run your Python code.

For more information, see this by Stanford computer science.
